21. Code of Conduct for Dufferin County Forest Users

These guidelines have been adapted from various sources.

a. General RulesExpect and respect other trail users.

- Remember that on shared use trails there are a variety of other users enjoying the trail with you.
- Keep to the right to allow other users to pass on your left. When stopping for a break, move to the side to allow others room to pass
- Stay on the trail; don't create new trails.
- Respect neighboring landowners by staying off private property.
- Avoid excessive noise.
- Leave the trail as you found it; whatever you pack in, pack out.
- Maintain control of your pets. Carry a leash for your dog and be prepared to use it. "Stoop and flick" when waste is on the trail.
- Some trails may close seasonally or during forest management activities. Obey trail closure signs.
- Check the trail conditions. If you are leaving tracks over ½" (1.25 cm) deep don't use the trail.
- Do not scare horses by approaching silently or rapidly. When approaching from the front, stop and let them pass unless the rider indicates otherwise. If approaching from behind, alert the horse and rider from about 30 feet (nine metres) away with a friendly "hello". Ask the rider the best way to pass.
- During hunting seasons wear bright coloured clothing to increase visibility.
- Obey all signs.
- Yield on trails according to the following:

b. Walkers, Hikers, Runners, Snowshoers

- Remember that on shared use trails there are a variety of other users enjoying the trail with you.
- Do not scare horses by approaching silently or rapidly. When approaching from the front, stop and let them pass unless the rider indicates otherwise. If approaching from behind, alert the horse and rider from about 30 feet (nine metres) away with a friendly “hello”. Ask the rider the best way to pass.

- Keep control of your pets, particularly when sharing the trail with mountain bikers, children, horses or snowmobiles.
- Don’t walk on groomed cross-country ski trails.

c. Equestrians (adapted from: Headwaters Horse Country)

- Remember that on shared use trails there are a variety of other users enjoying the trail with you.
- Wear a helmet
- Before heading out on the trail, get informed about where horses are permitted and not permitted. Obey trail closure and seasonal use signs. Ride only on trails that are marked as being open to horses and stay on those trails. Don’t make new trails or use unsigned trails. In winter, stay off groomed cross-country ski trails.
- Horses can cause a lot of damage to the trail. Do your best to leave the trail as you found it. Avoid going on wet trails even if there are no closed signs posted. If your horse leaves tracks deeper than ½” (1.25 cm) stay off the trail.
- Kick manure off the trail (hikers and bikers will appreciate it). Take out what you take in and nothing else (leave the wildflowers and wild life behind). Manure and trailer contents must be removed from parking lots and disposed of offsite. Do not dispose of on gravel roads.
- Before taking your horse on the trail, train him to handle situations that may occur there. Horses that kick, bite or are very spooky are not safe on a shared trail. Always ride with a more experienced horse and rider especially if you or your horse are new to trail riding.
- Enjoy your ride at a leisurely pace especially when your view of the trail ahead is restricted. To avoid damaging the trail or causing injury to other trail users, keep to a walk or a gentle trot. Never gallop on the trail.
- Keep to the right when meeting oncoming trail users. If you are passing someone in front of you, make sure they know you are behind them. Pass in single file on the left after getting their permission to pass. If they are traveling with dogs or children, ensure they have them under control before passing. If others are passing you, tell them the safest way to get by. If you stop for a rest, move to the right side of the trail so that others have room to pass.
- Whoever is travelling uphill is given the right of way so that they don’t lose momentum. This applies for bikers, hikers and horse riders.
- When you hear or see other trail users, speak up to let them know you are there. Call out a friendly greeting so they aren’t caught by surprise as they come around a corner. You can decrease negative encounters by educating non-horse people in a friendly and respectful manner about how to safely approach and pass horses.
- Always be prepared for the worst case scenario. Carry identification on yourself and on your horse in case you become separated. Let someone know where you are going and when you expect to return. Carry a basic first aid kit as well as a cellphone, water and some food.
- It is highly recommended that you have off-farm liability insurance coverage that will protect you in case you lose control of your horse and damages ensue

d. Cyclists (adapted from: International Mountain Bicycling Association Canada)

- Remember that on shared use trails there are a variety of other users enjoying the trail with you.
- Do your utmost to let your fellow trail users know you're coming — a friendly greeting or bell ring are good methods. Try to anticipate other trail users as you ride around corners. Bicyclists should yield to other non-motorized trail users, unless the trail is clearly signed for bike-only travel. Bicyclists traveling downhill should yield to ones headed uphill, unless the trail is clearly signed for one-way or downhill-only traffic. In general, strive to make each pass a safe and courteous one.
- Respect trail and road closures — ask the County Forest Manager or his/her designate for clarification if you are uncertain about the status of a trail. Do not trespass on private land. Obtain permits or other authorization as required.
- Be sensitive to the dirt beneath you. Wet and muddy trails are more vulnerable to damage than dry ones. When the trail is soft, consider riding in a different area. This also means staying on existing trails and not creating new ones to bypass soft areas. Don't cut switchbacks. Be sure to pack out at least as much as you pack in.
- Inattention for even a moment could put yourself and others at risk. Obey all bicycle speed regulations and recommendations, and ride within your limits.
- Do not scare horses by approaching silently or rapidly. When approaching from the front, stop and let them pass unless the rider indicates otherwise. If approaching from behind, alert the horse and rider from about 30 feet (nine metres) away with a friendly "hello". Ask the rider the best way to pass.
- Know your equipment, your ability and the area in which you are riding and prepare accordingly. Strive to be self-sufficient: keep your equipment in good repair and carry necessary supplies for changes in weather or other conditions. Always wear a helmet and appropriate safety gear.
- Don't ride on groomed cross-country ski trails.

e. Cross-Country Skiers

- Remember that on shared use trails there are a variety of other users enjoying the trail with you.
- Use common sense and personal awareness, particularly in intense cold or when sharing the trail with snowmobiles.
- Keep to the right to allow other users to pass to your left. Be alert for other trail users and ski in control, particularly when your vision of the terrain ahead is restricted. Always assume that there could be someone up ahead, and be prepared to stop.
- Do not ski late in the day. Plan to be off the trail by dusk.
- Carry sufficient wax, food, drink, and clothing for unexpected eventualities.
- Keep track of your progress and where you are. For remote areas, leave your itinerary and expected return time with someone. Obey all posted signs and warnings. Keep off closed trails.
- Do not stop where you obstruct the trail or are not visible from above or at a bend.
- Before merging onto a trail, look both ways (particularly uphill), and yield to others. When going downhill or passing others, ski in control to avoid the persons below and beside you.
- Do not scare horses by approaching silently or rapidly. When approaching from the front, stop and let them pass unless the rider indicates otherwise. If approaching from behind, alert the horse and rider from about 30 feet (nine metres) away with a friendly "hello". Ask the rider the best way to pass.

f. Snowmobilers

- Remember that on shared use trails there are a variety of other users enjoying the trail with you.
- Wear a helmet
- Be safety conscious. Be aware. Ride with care.
- Stay on the designated Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs (OFSC) trails.
- Enjoy wildlife viewing opportunities, but avoid stressing any species.
- Avoid sudden stops and starts and quick directional changes with acceleration.
- Slow down when your vision of the trail ahead is restricted, at night, or over unfamiliar terrain.
- Always assume there could be other trail users ahead, and be prepared for a controlled stop.
- Keep your speed and engine rpm low and steady when approaching and passing other trail users, homes, etc.
- Slow down, communicate, and be courteous when approaching or passing other trail users.
- Your snowmobile may scare a horse. When approaching from the front, stop, turn off your machine, and let them pass unless the rider indicates otherwise. Approach slowly from behind, allow the rider to signal when it is alright to pass. If the horse reacts, stop and wait for the rider to regain control.
- Park and dismount from your snowmobile and walk to sensitive, scenic, historic and cultural areas.
- Remove your helmet when talking to other trail users.
- Don't ride on groomed cross-country ski trails.
- When parking along a trail, park snowmobiles in single file over to the right as far as possible to avoid obstructing the trail. Ensure you are visible and turn off your machine.
- Obey all laws, regulations and by-laws regulating the operation of your snowmobile.

g. Hunting, Fishing, Trapping

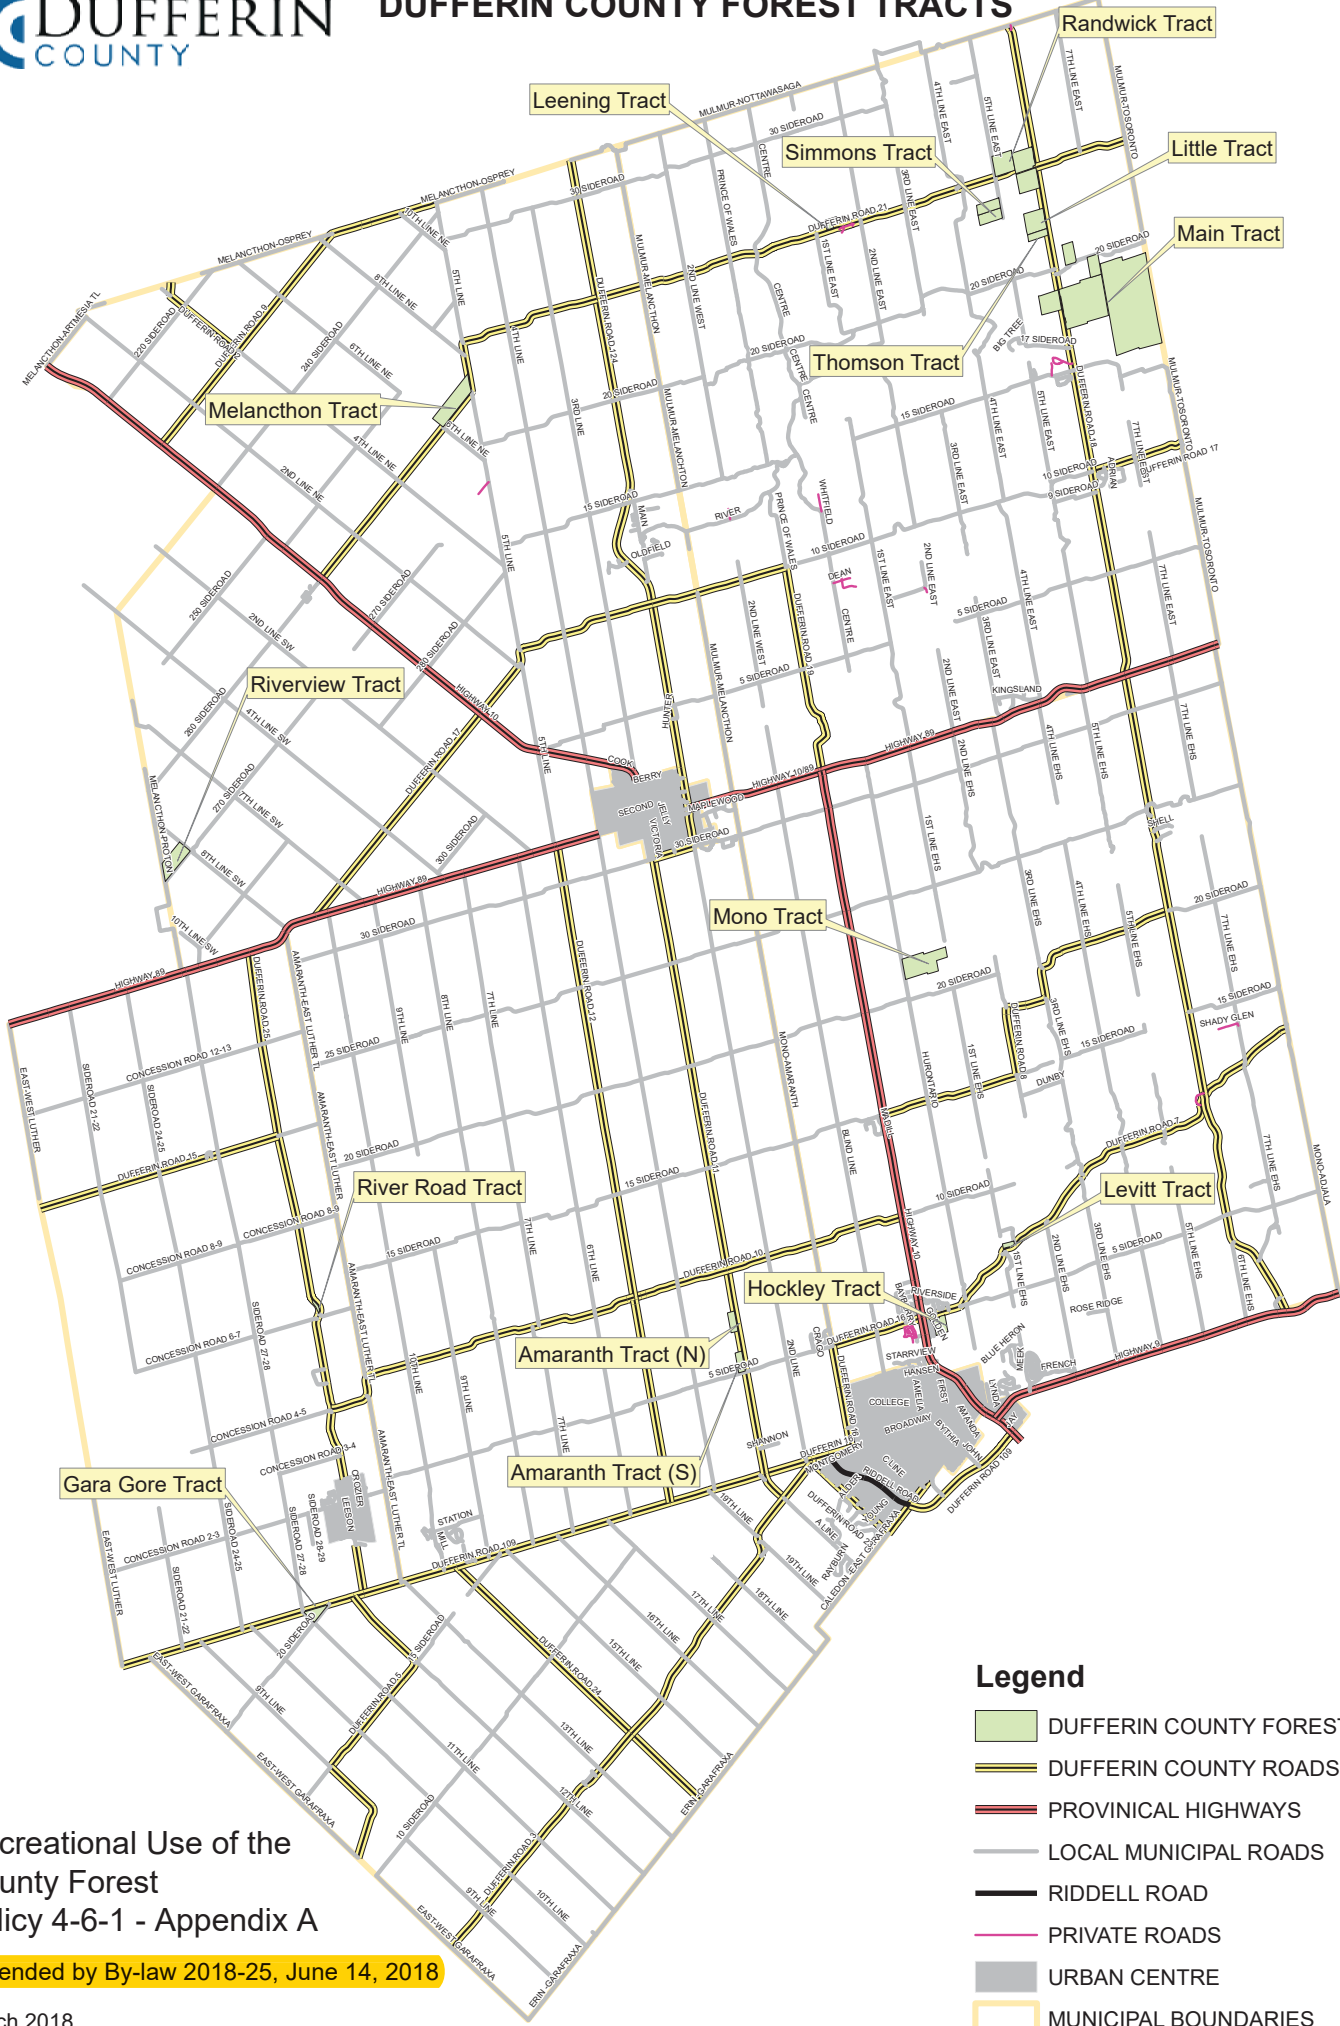

- Remember that on shared use trails there are a variety of other users enjoying the trail with you.
- Obey all laws, regulations and by-laws regulating hunting, fishing, and trapping.
- Be well-practiced and know your firearm's capabilities and limitations.
- When shooting, do so accurately and safely.
- Insist that other hunters obey all laws and report lawbreakers.
- Avoid offensive behaviour and situations, such as displaying your harvest on your vehicle or behaving coarsely during or after the hunt.
- Make full use of the animals you take.
- Respect neighboring landowners by staying off private property.
